Overview

S50 is a sailing catamaran with optimized livability and comfort onboard. Multiple groups of people can socialize in segregated outdoor spaces, while the interior accommodations would put some hotels to shame.

She does not only sail well, but also remain easy handling. The hulls have been given a fine entry for better performance, and a pair of fixed keel help the boat sail to weather. She is built strong but light, with a vacuum-bagged PVC-foam-core lamination.

With so much deck space onboard, the S50 creates three distinct and relatively separate outdoor social areas:

The Bow: with a conversation nook includes two lounges with settees and a cocktail table.

The Aft Cockpit: two steps up from the water, with a long straight transom seat for six to eight people, to port the main dining table, and an additional lounge sofa area on the starboard.

The Flybridge: with three sun lounges and an additional settee, providing a fantastic view and a cozy area, perfect spot to relax with a chill cocktail.
